JAPANESE DUMPING IN GERMANY

Home And Foreign Markets Losing.

JAPAN SHOULD BE BOUND TO NORMAL COMPETITION

Berlin, Yesterday.

The dumping of Japanese goods in Germany during recent months is causing anxiety at Hamburg. Japanese firms are also gaining a footing in Germany's foreign markets, with the result that business prospects for German exporters to China, India, Africa and Australia have become difficult.

In many cases German firms have had to give up the competition because they are unable to compete with Japanese prices.

It is argued that European and American exporting States should come to an agreement with Japan to bind the latter to more normal competition.—Reuter.

Tokyo, Yesterday.

BUREAU MAY OVER-RIDE GOLD BLOCK

"LET THEM TRY IT," SAYS DR. COLIJN

U.S. DOLLAR MAY BE STABILISED WITH POUND AT PAR

LONDON, YESTERDAY.
THE FATE OF THE WORLD ECONOMIC CONFERENCE WILL BE DECIDED ON MONDAY. IN THE MEANTIME, THERE IS NO JUSTIFICATION TO HEED THE REPORTS THAT THE CONFERENCE WILL ADJOURN IN AUGUST AND REASSEMBLE IN THE AUTUMN. THE POSITION IS FAR TOO UNCERTAIN TO MAKE A CONFIDENT PREDICTION.

The stabilisation argument continues to stick in the gullet of the gold bloc countries and induces them to insist that until this is accomplished, no finality in other directions may be expected.

Dr. Colijn, the Dutch Premier, as one of the prominent lights of the Conference, when questioned as to whether the Bureau is likely to exercise its over-riding powers, shrugged his shoulders and remarked significantly, "Let them try it."—Reuter.

TUSSLE EXPECTED TO-MORROW.

London, Yesterday.

To-day's activities of the World Economic Conference delegates were chiefly confined to informal meetings, at which it is presumed preparations are being made for Monday's tussle over the new scope of the Conference.

The Bureau will then have the opinions of the Economic and Monetary Committees, preliminarily to its exercising the right, if it so deems desirable, to over-ride their decisions.

In consequence of the variance of the views manifested yesterday the whole issue may be re-fought in the Bureau, behind closed doors.—Reuter.

To Curb Exchange Fluctuations.

CENTRAL BANKS MEET

Paris, Yesterday.

The Governors of the central banks of the gold bloc countries, together with M. Leon Fraser, head of the Bank of International Settlements are now conferring on measures to curb exchange fluctuations so as to keep currencies firm and steady on gold communication is being issued later.—Reuter.

U.S. DOLLAR LESS FEVERISH.

Treasury Helping To Keep Dollar Down.

London, Yesterday.

The American dollar was much less feverish on the Exchange to-day. After closing at 4.71 1/2 last night, it receded slightly to 4.74 at the end of to-day's session.

The only feature was the firming of gold currencies against sterling, due to offerings of the latter from the Continent.

German marks firmed up to 13.88 1/2 as compared with 13.83 1/2 last night.

The general impression in the United States, according to the well-informed Journal of Commerce, of New York, is that the pound-dollar rate will be stabilised at least, temporarily when the pound reaches parity.

Traders believe that the United States Treasury is taking an active part in the exchange market and has converted some balances into sterling to keep the dollar down.—Reuter.

How The Voting Will Go.

8 TO 7 RESULT PROBABLE IN BUREAU

A study of the Bureau representation of 16 members shows that if it comes to a vote on the subject of the non-gold countries' proposal to continue the monetary side of the agenda in all its ramifications, instead of curtailing the discussions to indebtedness, the result will be very close.

The Argentine, Britain, United States, Canada, China, Japan and Sweden favour the all-embracing continuation of the Conference, while Czechoslovakia, France, Germany, Italy, Holland and Spain opposed this view at yesterday's sub-committee vote.

The Soviet abstained from voting yesterday, and Hungary is expected to vote with the gold bloc countries while Mexico will probably vote with the non-gold countries.

Thus the voting would appear to be in favour of the non-gold countries by 8 to 7, with Russia neutral.—Reuter.

World Price Recovery.

ANOTHER ROOSEVELT MESSAGE.

Washington, Yesterday.

President Roosevelt's message to the American delegation, outlining in greater detail his campaign for the world price recovery as the immediate objective of the World Economic Conference was drafted after two lengthy meetings, yesterday, between President Roosevelt, Mr. Phillips, Acting United States Secretary of States, Mr. Acheson, acting Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Bernard Baruch and Mr. Norman Davis.

Mr. Phillips brought a long message from the United States delegates in London.

The message will clarify the Administration's position and take advantage of the new situation in London to urge action on what President Roosevelt believes should be the principal objectives of the Conference.

INCREASED WAGES

London, Yesterday.

The New York Herald Tribune states that President Roosevelt's message envisages a world wide action to raise commodity prices by currency management, control of production, shortening of hours of work and increasing wages.—Reuter.

World Economic Conference scenes.—Mr. Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, chatting with Mr. Cordell Hull, the American Secretary of State.—(S. & G.)

SIX ENGLISH STEAMERS FOR CHINA

Four For Yangtse Service.

CHINA MERCHANTS' S. N. COMPANY ORDER

Nanking, Yesterday.

A spokesman of the Chinese Ministry of Communications, stated this afternoon, that with a loan from the Chinese-British Boxer Funds, the China Merchants' S. N. Company is purchasing six steamers from England, two for the China-South Seas line and four for the Yangtse service.

The Ministry is sending an expert to England to supervise the construction.—Reuter's Pacific Service.

China's Railway Debts.

BRITAIN REQUESTS PAYMENT.

Nanking, Yesterday.

An official report in the Central Evening News states that the British Minister to China, Sir Miles Lampson has submitted to the Chinese Foreign Office, an aide de memoir drawing the attention of the Chinese Government to the Chinese railway debts to British interests, totalling $5,733,794 and Tls. 1,468,840, and requesting early payment.

The Foreign Office have forwarded the communication to the Ministry of Railways.—Reuter's Pacific Service.

They called on the ranking members of the Southwest Political Council and explained to them their plight under Vice-Admiral Shen Hung-lich, the Commandant of the North-East Squadron.

Members of the Southwest Political Council are said to be going over the matter very carefully before making a final decision.

MATTERN'S AEROPLANE SMASHED

Forced Down 100 Miles From Village.

UNABLE TO CABLE FOR THREE WEEKS

Moscow, Yesterday.

Lieutenant James J. Mattern, the 29-year-old American aviator, who disappeared after leaving Kharbarovsk on June 15, on his round-the-world flight, and who was reported safe at Anadirchukotka, a small Siberian town, yesterday, has now explained the reasons for his long silence.

Lieut. Mattern states that he was forced down in a desolate waste, 100 miles from Anadirchukotka, owing to the breaking down of his engine. Three weeks elapsed before he was able to transmit a telegram from the nearest office.—Reuter.

San Francisco, Yesterday.
Lieut. Mattern's machine is completely smashed according to a wireless message picked up by a coast-guard cutter.—Reuter.

ANGLO-CHINESE RELATIONS

Reader Appointed At University.

FIRST READERSHIP AT MANCHESTER

London, Yesterday.

The Readership of Chinese Language and Social Economy, created at Manchester University, has been filled, by Mr. E. W. Mead, formerly of the Consular Service.

The appointment was made possible by contribution of £400 annually out of the £200,000 which the Universities of China Committee received from the Boxer Indemnity Fund.

Somewhat similar posts will be established in several universities.

Professor W. H. Moberly, Vice-Chancellor of the Manchester University, at the Degree Day proceedings, said he hoped that the Reader would help to interpret to English business communities the present industrial and commercial conditions in China and those in Britain to the Chinese.—Reuter.

RUBBER RESTRICTION STILL UNDECIDED

Amsterdam, Yesterday.

The Dutch Government is still examining the rubber restriction plans, but it is understood that there is no intention of an official communiqué being issued in the near future.—Reuter.

HELEN LOSES A SET

U.S. CHAMPION WINS 6TH TITLE AT WIMBLEDON

Miss Round's Great Fight.

ONE OF GREATEST GAMES OF WOMEN'S TENNIS

Marred By Line-Umpire's Blunder

London, Yesterday.

Helen Wills-Moody beat Dorothy Round, the British hope, by 6-4, 6-8, 6-3 to-day to win the Women's Singles Championship at Wimbledon for the sixth time in her career.

An unpleasant incident which occurred through a line umpire's decision marred what would have been one of the greatest women's matches in the history of the tournament.

In the final of the Men's Doubles Ben Borotra and Jacques Brugnon (France), the holders, beat R. Nuno and Jiro Satoh (Japan) 4-6, 6-3, 6-3, 7-5. Only Mrs. Lambert Chambers, the British player, has a better record than "Tober Face" Helen. She won the title on seven occasions. Suzanne Lenglen won it six times. Miss Round in the first play to win a set from Mrs. Moody for six years.

Mrs. Moody again subdued her stroke power and was content to produce no greater speed than her opponent, who drove splendidly, but who failed to show much court craft.

Miss Round also missed opportunities at the net by ragged volleying.

In the first set Miss Round led 3-2, but the holder levelled at 3-all. At 4-all the American took the ninth game from love-thirty, and the tenth to fifteen to win the first set.

Miss Round won the second set at 8-6 after one of the worst incidents that has ever happened at Wimbledon.

The British girl was leading 7-4, and the score was vantage to Mrs. Moody when Miss Round hit the ball beyond the baseline and 7-all was registered.

Then came a procession of line-men to the umpire's chair, and after delays the umpire reversed the score to deuce. Miss Round resumed her service and won two points, Mrs. Moody being distressed. The American's lapse cost her the set.

The crowd sensed an injustice and gave Mrs. Moody a number of rousing demonstrations. The incident marred what would have been the greatest women's battle since the days of Suzanne Lenglen.

Miss Round had played wonderfully well, driving beautifully both long and short balls with cross-court long driving to offer a variety to her display.

The standard of play throughout the third set never reached the heights of the second set before the unfortunate incident.

After being 2-all Mrs. Moody went to 5-2 and was match point when Miss Round netted at a drop shot. Mrs. Moody, however, overhit, and lost chance. Miss Round saved a game match point by a good smash.

The British girl saved the game and then Mrs. Moody won 40-15, serving with a great shot. In the next rally Round netted at 4-5, but the match at 6-4.—Reuter.

"STYLE," as applied to the Packard, has always meant something more.

Associated with it, logically and distinctively, is the other important word, "enduring"—a Packard characteristic for a third of a century.

So gradually and correctly has Packard style evolved—like the slow unfolding of a beautiful flower—it has never been at the mercy of that capricious mood which too often alienates to-morrow's style from that of to-day.

Mainly Women

A MESSAGE TO WOMEN.

Benjamin Disraeli, England's Greatest Prime Minister said:

"The strength of a nation depends on the health, and strength of its individual members. It matters not how wealthy a nation may become, how large its cities, how vast its armies, and navies, if the health of its people is on the decline it will rapidly perish and decay."

This is a message to all women, for on women rests the responsibility of the family with suitable food for health, and for mental and physical growth. The well being of your family depends, in a large measure on the food which you give them to eat, and upon the welfare of your family depends the future welfare of the nation.

Study your foods, and be able to make a wise choice in quality and quantity. There are many under-nourished children in China, but under-nourishment is not always the result of too little food, very often it is because of bad quality food.

"SNOWFLAKE FULL CREAM EVAPORATED MILK" produced in New Zealand, The Empire's Dairyland under the strictest pure food laws is a product pre-eminent among the foods which nature provides. It is new available in Hong Kong at comparatively low cost. Other choice New Zealand foods are HELLABYS famous Coked Ham, Flavour sealed. The C.M.C. Lamb Tongues in jelly with the self opening key, safe, convenient, and appetizing.

RELAXATION AND BEAUTY

Tips For Tired Business Women.

EXERCISE SERIES

EVERY business woman expects two weeks with pay once a year. But it may not have occurred to her that her own face might like a few days off, too.

Sounds a little odd, of course, but what it means is this — you must deliberately and conscientiously set aside three days at the end of winter to relax the nerves and muscles of your face.

First, print a neat little reminder sign—Relax—and stand it on your desk before your typewriter. Relax the nerves in your face.

How? By letting all worries, annoyances, and disagreeable ideas fade from your mind.

Continue your regular morning and evening facial care. But add this series of exercises.

Stand before a long mirror. Bend forward until your fingers touch the floor. Do not bend the knees. Rise until the body is straight and poised. Repeat this exercise 10 times the first night, 15 the second, and 25 the third.

Now stand erect. Rotate the head steadily for two full minutes. You should be able to make 50 complete rotations in this time.

Now hop into a warm, hot bath. Give your body a brisk scrubbing with a soap that makes a free lather. Next, crawl into your bed and before turning off the light, sip a glass of warm milk.

And here's the most important part of the treatment. You must go to bed and to sleep at 10 o'clock for three consecutive nights. No in-between nights out, no excep-

HAT DISPLAY SHOWS WIDE RANGE

Berets And Straws Still Popular.

WOMEN are revelling in the displays of millinery. There is for the first time for years a real choice of millinery, and no one need make an unhappy selection if she takes stock of her features and colouring and then finds the hat that is designed for her type.

The open-air sports girl will do well to include the beret in her choice. There is no headgear at once so smart, practical, and becoming. Accessories should tone, and the lines of the beret be adopted to the size of head and face. Below the attractive beret, carried out in one of the pliable fabric straws, is a useful style for the older woman with the helpful brim that shades the face and the point over the right eye that gives piquancy.

The flat-crowned little model, poised well forward and finished with a wisp of nose veil is for the very feminine type. Next to this comes a well-balanced model—also with the tilt over the eye—and in this case a contrast in colour in hat and ribbon trimming. This model is one of the successes of the season, whether in fabric or straw, and is an ideal hat for the youthful looking, blonde type of woman, who will find it becoming in pretty pastel colouring. Most women would find it a safe choice.

The last model is in fine white or parchment straw, with a dark ribbon drawn round its curious close-fitting brim—a smart hat this, but only suited to the ultra modern "Continental" type of face.

Stocking Saver

If you are one of the women who always wear their stockings out first at the toes, where the sheer joins the foot, before you wear new stockings at all, run a few reinforcing threads back and forth across those spots.

If you wear them at the heels, turn your new hosiery wrong side out and stitch through some reinforcing threads.

Two-Way-Stretch Elastic

TWO-WAY-STRETCH elastic has gone still further afield. In one of its manifold developments it appears in a satin finish, pliable as a piece of silk. This extraordinary material has been worked into a series of undergarments that almost improve on nature, for while they fit as smoothly as the skin, they yet have the ability to hold and restrain. Chemises and panties made of it are firm supporters of the youth movement in fashion. The same fabric in a yet finer version makes brassiere tops on chemises and slips. The advantage can readily be seen—with a glide they do the trick.

Paris Says "Brief" Wraps

To Top Spring Evening Gowns.

A "LITTLE WRAP" plays an important part in evening styles this season. Short jackets of silk crepe or velvet, frilly organdy capes and boleros of tulle are worn with many of the newest frocks.

Brevity is the rule for the "little wraps" which top spring evening gowns. Capes generally end at the elbow line, jackets fall no lower than the waist, while sleeves are rarely longer than elbow length.

Patou's New Three Piece Dresses

Ribbed Materials Used In Horizontal Lines.

MORNING BLOUSES OF WOOL

JEAN Patou shows some new three pieces of coat and skirt with short waist blouses. The coats have square shoulders, some with rolls to widen the line, others with a little padding.

The waistline is low with a dip behind. Ribbed materials are used in horizontal lines; hips are sleek and trim; skirts from the knees have deep inset box pleats which open out when in movement and fall into straight lines in repose.

Morning and country three pieces are of woollen materials, but for ton to 10 o'clock, and no reading or thinking after the covers are drawn up.

When your face has lost its tensesness, and those threats of wrinkles have disappeared, and the girls want to know what makes you look so fresh and lovely, you might be generous and tell them about your three-day relaxation.

town there are black satin coats and skirts with light coloured satin blouses and fox fur. The satin blouses usually overlap the skirt at the hips and are draped lower on one side than the other. The open necks of blouses and dresses are draped with one soft falling rever, the other side being nearly plain except for a slight point of drapery.

FINE DIVING BY ROZA

Colony Champion's Brilliant Form.

LIONEL ROZA-PEREIRA TOO EAGER

V. R. C. Aquatic Gala

The magnificent diving exhibition given by Ed. Roza, the Colony champion, proved to be the feature of the V.R.C.'s second swimming carnival which was held very successfully last night.

Roza, who was not seen in action at the first gala, was in his very best form last night.

Among those present were Mrs. Borrett, wife of H. E. Major-General O. C. Borrett, C.B., C.M.G., C.B., E., D.S.O., and Capt. F. R. L. Mears, A. D. C.

Eight swimming events were decided in quick succession and all the races provided thrilling struggles for supremacy.

E. B. da Roza, won the "A" class 75 yards medley race in great style, beating T. L. Paget by half a length. After being level in the first 25 yards of the breast-stroke, Roza's greater stamina enabled him to forge ahead in the Back Stroke to take a slight lead. Roza held his lead in the final lap, although hotly pursued by Paget, who swam a very fine race. H. M. Remedios was a good third.

L. Roza-Pereira, the favourite, dived before his time, and, realising his mistake, made no attempt to catch the leaders.

G. J. Smith won the "B" 75 Yards Medley with a handicap of 4 seconds. The issue was never in doubt, and it remained for Marques and Gutierrez to provide the excitement in a stirring struggle for second place. Marques just won by a touch.

Splendid Diving

The diving from the spring board was undoubtedly the feature of the evening. After a plain swallow dive, the competitors were permitted a free choice of dives and the result was a series of fancy dives, including the Jack Knife, Cork Screw, Half Twist, Back Dive and Back Somersault. The event was won easily by Ed. Roza, the Colony champion. He dived perfectly.

The comic act entitled "Diving lessons from the spring board," by Roza and H. L. Ozorio, caused uproarious laughter for fully 15 minutes. The pair proved themselves both funny and witty in their sayings.

C. E. Roza-Pereira scored two goals in the first half for the "A" team, but soon after the commencement of the second half Lionel Roza-Pereira reduced the lead. C. Roza-Pereira, however, again scored, and H. M. Remedios followed with a fine shot raising the score to 4. Just before the close Ambrose added the second goal for the "B" team.

Madarasz (Hungary) recorded the second foreign victory at the meeting when he won the Throwing Discus with a distance of 144ft. 11 1/2 ins. This effort beat P. Birmingham's winning throw last year by 5ft. 8 3/4 ins.

Whitehead, the Northern champion, won the Half Mile in the good time of 1 min. 54.1/5secs. beating Scrimshaw by a yard. Pearce was third. Whitehead's time was 2.2/5secs. better than T. Hampson's time last year.

Hampson broke the world's record for 800 Metres at the Olympic Games after winning this event.

A. Bell, another Northern champion, won the Throwing the Javelin with a distance of 169 ft 1 1/2 ins.—42 ft 6 1/2 ins. behind O. Jurgals effort last year.

BANK WIN HONG RELAY AT Y.M.C.A. GALA

England Hold Rest Polo Team To Draw.

LADIES DO WELL

Excellent competition featured the third monthly swimming gala of the European Y.M.C.A., which was held last night in the Association's pool, Kowloon, before a large crowd, including Mr. F. H. Crapnell, one of the Directors of the Y. M. C. A.

The Ladies proved far too good for the men in the relay race between six men and four ladies, while the Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank secured a comfortable victory in the Hong Kong team race.

One of the keenest water-polo games seen for a long while completed the programme, the play being fast and furious with many thrilling moments, particularly in the second half when the Rest were playing with only six men. In spite of this handicap they were, however, able to keep the England team from scoring.

The third heat of the Men's 50 Yards Aggregate handicap provided a thrilling race, R. Wood beating R. Goldman by a touch in 23.4/6 secs., while the latter beat Lango by the same margin.

Another excellent race was the 50 Yards Back Stroke which provided a stirring finish with Donn and Anslow hitting the wall a fraction after one another and Campbell just behind.

Miss Doris Hunt swam an excellent race in the first heat of the Ladies' 50 Yards Aggregate Handicap. Going at 13 she was just beaten by Miss Anne Fowler, who went at 40, while Miss V. Allen, who went at 4, filled the third position.

BOWLING GREEN BEAT THE POLICE

DOCKS "DERBY" WON BY TAIKOO TEAM

ADAM HOLLAND'S RINK SHINE

THE Kowloon Cricket Club provided the Lawn Bowls sensation yesterday when their weakened team lowered the Recreio colours by a 32 shots margin. The K.C.C. won on all three rinks to record their second win in eight games.

The Bowling Green easily overcame the Police, and Taikoo won the Docks "Derby" by a convincing margin. In the junior division the Bowling Green and K.C.C. recorded their second wins and the Recreio accounted for the Electric by 19 shots.

Adam Holland's four (R. Duncan, J. Sloan, and W. Macfarlane) recorded a 7 and a 6 to beat W. Mair's rink by 22 shots—the highest win of the day. Holland's rink led 19-2 at the end of the eighth head. G. Moss had the satisfaction of registering a seven, but his rink lost to L. Guy's four by 9 shots.

In the second division F. L. Rapley and A. F. Paul both recorded sixes, but the latter's rink lost by 13 shots. Rapley's four (T. Searle, G. H. Owen, and G. E. F. Thompson) snatched a dramatic win from K. M. Omar's four. Led 16-8 at the end of the 17th head Rapley's rink scored 12 shots on the last five ends to win 20-19.

The matches between Craigengower and Civil Service in both divisions were postponed as a mark of respect to Mr. F. H. Holdman, the Civil Servants' junior team skip who passed away yesterday morning.

HONG KONG, SUNDAY, JULY 9, 1933.

President Roosevelt Disappoints.

THE World Economic Conference has collapsed, although not completely, the non-gold countries having succeeded in prolonging the agony. Only British mediation prevented the withdrawal of the gold bloc nations. President Roosevelt must accept full responsibility for the breakdown at London and, as we pointed out in these columns a fortnight ago, the blame is directly attributable to the Roosevelt administration. The United States President not only deluded the representatives of foreign nations at the Washington conversations (he assured Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Herriot that America's abandonment of the gold standard was not the prelude to a deliberate campaign to depreciate the American dollar) but he has also repudiated his delegates. First, he disavowed the accredited delegation, led by Mr. Cordell Hull, on currency stabilization, and then embarrassed his own personal representative, Professor Moley, when the latter had drawn up a plan whereby wide currency fluctuations could be checked by a system of co-operative international control. Mr. Roosevelt's own statements have been so inconsistent that he has confused the American delegation while he has found it necessary to issue subsequent statements to clarify his declarations. His amazing change of attitude has astounded and dismayed the world, and he has, as Reuter described it, "torpedoed the Conference."

The complaint against President Roosevelt is not so much that he has decided on a nationalist policy but that he misled the world by indicating that he was prepared to co-operate and that he created the illusion that America was at last abandoning her traditional policy of isolation. If the United States wishes to embark on an inflation policy that is mainly her own affair. Other nations may differ with that policy but at least the position is clear and straightforward, allowing of no misconception. If President Roosevelt had been frank before June 15, stating his intentions then, instead of a week or two later, the tragedy of the Conference could have been averted. Europe could have a separate Conference or, better still, the World Conference could have been postponed. As it is the Conference will now be either adjourned or else it will stagger along with or without the gold countries. But the chief damage has been done — public confidence has been destroyed. The peoples of the world had become accustomed to continual failures of weary, futile Conferences but had been led to believe that the London conference would be approached in a new spirit of international co-operation. Expectations have been dashed and the hopes of tens of millions jobless and impoverished have given way to despair. Even if President Roosevelt modified his attitude now it is doubtful whether confidence could be revived or whether the antagonism of the gold nations could be overcome.

Mr. Roosevelt is also losing ground in his own country, where the conservative Press is attacking his administration for the inflation measures which, it is asserted by many, are threatening the country with ultimate economic ruin. On Friday, General Johnson, Administrator of the National Recovery Act, expressed anxiety "that the recent urge of speculative production in the United States factories and the rise in prices of commodities will outstrip the purchasing power of the masses and cause a now and worse collapse." A gambling fever is sweeping America and the tremendous advances in Wall Street stock quotations of the past few weeks are due mainly to faith in the inflation programme and not to any unusual improvement in business. The position has aroused many misgivings and leading newspapers are urging adoption of sounder, if less spectacular, methods. It is not altogether improbable that Mr. Roosevelt, flushed with his initial successes in office, is overstepping himself.

The actual fate of the Conference will be decided at the Bureau meeting to be held in London tomorrow, and at this stage the wisest course appears to be adjournment. The best suggestion that has been advanced during the week is the proposal that the British Empire hold its own Conference, amplifying and furthering the Imperial economic unity achieved at the Ottawa Conference. We are in full accord with the opinion expressed by "The Times," which stated that "it would be the greatest waste of a precious opportunity if the British Empire representatives did not take advantage of the present meeting to consolidate their industrial, commercial and agricultural co-operation."

SEARCH FOR HIDDEN TREASURE

Nearly 600 Years On Sea Bottom.

SWEDISH ENGINEER'S PLAN

Stockholm.
Plans to recover treasure, believed to be of immense value, which has lain at the bottom of the sea for 672 years have been made by a Swedish-born American engineer named Hall, at present living in New York.

In 1361 a number of warships belonging to the famous Danish King Waldemar Atterdag were sunk off the west coast of the Island of Gotland after they had pillaged the wealthy Hanseatic city of Visby.

This is the treasure which Hall plans to recover.

He is proceeding on strictly modern business lines, and has invited the public to subscribe for shares, promising dividends of 1000 per cent. He has obtained permission from the Governor of Gotland to proceed with the scheme, but the Swedish public at least so far remains incredulous. The engineer is also proposing to make similar expeditions to Cocos Island and the West Indies.—Reuter.

NEW AID FOR GERMAN NEW REFUGEES

Compatriots In Yugoslavia Raise Sympathy Tax

Belgrade.
The Jewish community in Novisad has imposed a tax of 10 per cent. on all its members. The funds so raised will be used to help refugees leaving Germany on their way to Palestine.

Many Jews, mostly entirely without funds, have already passed through Yugoslavia on their way to Palestine. It is estimated that thousands more will be coming shortly. In all the big Yugoslav centres, hospitality and food have been given them and it is desired to raise funds to enable refugees to continue their journey in less discomfort than they began it.—Reuter.

News In Brief.

The total rainfall for the Colony since January 1, this year, is 23.42 inches, against an average 42.19 inches. Yesterday evening's shower yielded 0.33 inch.

H.M.S. Whistart of the 8th Destroyer Flotilla arrived in Hong Kong this morning from Tsingtau. H.M.S. Whistart of the same unit left the Colony at 9 a.m. this morning for summer exercises at Weihai-wei.

The monthly returns for June of bank notes in circulation in Hong Kong, as published in the current issue of the Government Gazette, show the average returns to amount to $149,039,641. Specie in reserve amounted to $132,650,000.

Lam Luk, age 39, charged at the Central Police Court yesterday morning with unlawful possession of a gold watch and chain was remanded for forty-eight hours. The watch was reported to have been found on Shanghai Street.

Tenders are invited for the demolition and removal of the timber pier, offices, barricades and the removal of the timber piles, from the Nam Cheong Street Pier, Shum-shuipo, announces the Government Gazette. Tenders must be received at the Colonial Secretary's Office not later than Monday, July 17.

Dr. Tsan Tze-ming of No. 34, Wyndham Street, and Dr. Bee Hoat-tack of St. John's Hall, Hong Kong University, Bachelors of Medicine and Surgery of the Hong Kong University, have been added to the Register of Medical Practitioners, entitled to practice medicine in the Colony, according to the Government Gazette.

Mr. E. Mitford, of the Hong Kong Tramways, Ltd., reported to the Police on Friday that a tram-cooler, Chan Hok, had his hand severed below the wrist in attempting to grease the gear-box of a tram at the Company's workshop, Wong Nei Chung. The cooler is being treated at the Government Civil Hospital.

The appointment of the Hon. Mr. Richard McNeil Henderson to be an Official Member of the Executive Council and an Official Member of the Legislative Council, with effect from July 2, 1933, is announced in the Government Gazette.

LONDON

from
OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
June 7.

The Conference's Telephones.
So many telephone boxes have been installed in one long line for use at the World Economic Conference that they produce an extraordinary effect.

When seen in the basement of the new Geological Museum at South Kensington, all of their doors were swung open. They resembled nothing so much as a suburban train at Victoria or Waterloo after it has disgorged its passengers during the morning rush hour.

There is an even more striking impression when you look down from the gallery on to the taut white fabric canopy that serves as a roof to the plenary hall, which is directly below.

It reminds you dimly of an airship's interior, with a gas bag at close quarters.

—And Its Decks.

The plenary hall is on the ground floor, and it would have been open to the glass roof high above but for the fixing of this canopy.

Special tests demonstrated that fabric stretched in this way, like the roof of a marquee, has excellent acoustic properties.

The Office of Works has shown much skill in adapting the fine new building to the purposes of the Conference, and in the process of furnishing it has evolved a most practical type of desk.

Of the simplest possible structure, it ought to serve as a model for council chambers. It has a top that is actually wide enough to write on; it has no holes for quite unnecessary inkpots; and below is provided with compartments that are placed far enough back to be out of the way.

M. F. H.'s En Masse.

One does not ordinarily associate the Ritz at the luncheon hour with such country sports as fox-hunting.

It was, therefore, with some surprise that one observed Masters of Hounds in large numbers arriving there one day recently. Between fifteen and twenty, including the Duke of Beaufort, Lord Digby, Major "Tommy" Bouch, Lord Hillington, Sir John Buchanan-Jardine, and Lord Feversham were in London for a meeting of the Masters of Foxhounds Association.

And Mr. "Ikey" Bell, joint master of the South and West Wilts, had invited them to lunch with him. That was the simple explanation of this phenomenon.

Luxembourg's Army.

Sir Nigel Playfair's son, Giles, recently left for Luxembourg after his Bar examinations. The Grand-Duchy is a charming little miniature State, which can hardly be a menace to its neighbours in these days of threatened armaments races.

Its armed forces consist of one company of gendarmes (4 officers and 225 men), and a company of volunteers (6 officers and 170 men).

Church Music Festival.

One of the busiest men in the country just now must be Dr. Sydney Nicholson, the director of the School of English Church Music. He is to conduct the great Festival of English Church Music at the Crystal Palace on July 21, in which several hundred church choirs—mustering 4,000 voices—from all over Britain will take part.

Dr. Nicholson is one of the most distinguished organists in the country. But the great work to which he has devoted himself, as head of the school of English church music bids fair to make him more abidingly famous.

New Australian Cruiser.

For some time now the building of a new cruiser for the Royal Australian Navy has been under discussion between the Admiralty and the Commonwealth Naval Board, and an official announcement may be expected in the near future.

The projected vessel is intended to replace the Brisbane, of 5,120 tons, which was completed in 1916, and is therefore over age—as, unfortunately, are so many of our own cruisers.

In spite of its straitened finances, the Commonwealth is apparently determined to maintain its naval defences, though these have been drastically curtailed in recent years.

To Be Built In England?

At present only two cruisers, a sea-plane carrier, and a destroyer are in full commission. It is uncertain as yet where the new Brisbane will be built. Construction is much cheaper in this country than in Australia, but political reasons may compel the Commonwealth Government to build the ship at Sydney, where the prototype was laid down.

Meanwhile the British Admiralty has agreed to lend the Commonwealth Navy a flotilla leader and four "V" class destroyers, to replace five older torpedo craft which are due for the scrap heap.

Fashions In Names.

No less strange than the change of fashion in clothes is the change of fashion in names.

Queen Mary was given eight names at her baptism. Of the eight only two, I think, are still widely used for the children of 1933. Yet time was when their namesakes were legion throughout the length and breadth of the land.

"Princess May," daughter of the Duke of Teck and through her mother, great-granddaughter of George III., was christened Victoria Mary Augusta Louise Olga Pauline Claudine Agnes. Mary retains its popularity and Pauline is coming back into fashion. Louise one finds here and there.

But the rest find few echoes today.

On The Bench.

Amy Lady Coleridge, who has recently died, took an exceptional interest in the daily task of her husband, the famous Lord Chief Justice, whom she so long survived.

She was a familiar figure by his side on the Bench during many notable trials of the 80's and 90's.

Famous among these was that of Sir George Chetwynd v. the Earl of Durham, and more celebrated still, the great baccarat case of 1891, in which the then Prince of Wales gave evidence.

A Valuable Wife.

In his reminiscences the late Sir Edward Clarke, K.C., who appeared for Sir William Gordon Cumming, the plaintiff in the baccarat case, relates how, on a bench "filled by a group of fashionable ladies," Lady Coleridge sat close to her husband's right hand.

There she performed the useful function of checking his "occasional inclination to sleep, which at this time had become noticeable."

One of the "Chief's" daughters-in-law also sat close by, with a sketch-book on her knee "busily sketching the actors in the drama," including Sir Edward himself, Sir Charles Russell, K.C., his opponent, and Mr. Asquith, K.C.

Lord Oxford's Chambers.

The chambers in No. 1, Paper-buildings, on which for long years the name of the Earl of Oxford and Asquith remained, have just been taken over by Mr. Wilfrid Clothier, a counsel on the Northern Circuit. Lord Oxford never used them after 1905, and when he became a peer he changed the "H. H. Asquith" to his title.

When he died his friend, Mr. Roskill, K.C., kept the name, until he himself gave up a year ago. Until recently the name panel had been vacant.

Coincidence

Ozias Humphrey, R.A., had his studio at 13, Old Bond-street towards the close of the 18th century, and there he painted the fashionable world of that day.

Amongst his works was a group study of the Heygate family, of Leicester, executed in 1800, and depicting William, James and Elizabeth Heygate; the first of whom was to become a knight and as Sir William Heygate, Lord Mayor of London in 1823.

The Leger Galleries, which now occupy the same premises at No. 13, are holding an exhibition of old masters—and amongst the pictures on view the Heygate group has been hanging in the gallery which Oxford

PARIS SEEKS BEST GAS-MASK

Newspaper Sponsors Novel Competition.
PRACTICAL TEST PROPOSED

Paris. One of the strangest competitions organised by a newspaper will open here shortly. It is a gas-mask contest! The competition is being organised by "Paris-Midi," after it had been found that no gas mask at present on the market bore an official stamp. Inventors and constructors are to be asked to remain in a gas-filled room, for as long as they choose, and will be examined on their exit. Only by this practical measure, the paper considers, will it be possible to determine what type of mask can be recommended to the public. When there was first talk of the advisability of procuring gas masks, no one took the matter seriously. But now that the provision of gas masks is being organised in Italy as well as in Germany, certain public bodies in France are beginning to think that France also should make preparations. The French Red Cross is giving free lectures on measures of protection to be taken against aerial bombardment and poison gas, and the League of Aerial Defence is organising similar lectures. It should be pointed out that no official steps whatever have been taken in connection with the provision of gas masks, and that the vast majority of the public are not interested in the subject.—Reuter.

MARKED AIR-ROUTE OVER SAHARA.

French Venture Now Completed.

700 MILES SURVEYED

Paris. A track which planes can follow now exists across part of the Sahara. Captain Vauthier, who has just returned to Paris from the almost unknown Tenere, to the south-east of the Hoggar, has for the first time succeeded in linking up In-Azoua, south-east of Tamanrasset, with Ngulmi, near Lake Chad. The methods of the expedition—which included as geologist and historian a woman, Madame de Bomberghe—were worthy of note by prospective trans-Saharan fliers. Each morning, lorries set out at dawn, marking the most practicable route as they went, and seeking a landing ground. A wireless message was then sent to a waiting plane, giving the exact position of the landing ground. The plane then set out following the marked route, and rejoined the lorries at the landing ground. This proceeding was repeated each day, until the whole distance—some 700 miles—was marked out sufficiently clearly to be visible from the air.—Reuter.

SIX COUNSELS OF PERFECTION.

Vicar Advises Married Women.

TREATMENT OF HUSBANDS.

London. Six "counsels of perfection" to wives on the proper treatment of husbands are given by the Rev. T. H. Curtis, Vicar of St. Paul's Church Westcliff, in his Church magazine. Here they are: "If your husband is quiet, don't imagine he is sulky. He may be trying to think of a suitable present for you." "Never buy him cigars. The shops keep special brands to sell to ladies for that purpose. They are useful for killing green fly but are unpleasant in the house." "At the end of a tiring day, don't ask him 'What shall we have for dinner to-morrow?' That is your job." "If you put his trousers in the press remember that the creases should come front and back—not at the sides." "If your husband goes for a walk in the country, it may be that he expects too much of him. He is only a man. He has his own advantages."—Reuter.

CHUNG-SHING TYPEWRITING ACADEMY

Graduation Ceremony Yesterday.

50 STUDENTS RECEIVE CERTIFICATES

Fifty students received their certificates for typewriting at the Twelfth Term Graduation Prize-giving of the Chung-shing Typewriting Academy, held at the Gloucester Restaurant yesterday afternoon. The Chairman, Mr. Li Yat-choi, said that it was very gratifying to note that the Academy had continued to do very useful work in providing a sound training in typewriting to so many young men who had left school without a definite profession. On behalf of the Academy he welcomed the guests and thanked them for their attendance. "I desire particularly to thank Mr. Chan Lim-pak, our Honorary Director, who has kindly consented to distribute the prizes and certificates." In spite of his other important engagements, Mr. Chan has given us his help in coming to this function, and we are very grateful indeed." 215 Students Enroll. Mr. C. S. Kwok, the principal of the Academy in his report said:—"The Academy was founded in 1929 and has now on its roll 215 students of different nationalities, including Chinese, English, French, Russian, Portuguese and Indians. "Of the 65 candidates who took their examination this term, 50 successfully passed the test, 25 in the Junior and 25 in the Senior. The fastest in the Senior division recorded a speed of 62 words a minute on a machine after four months' training. "At the request of many pupils, an Academy of Commerce was opened last November at 25 Lyndhurst Terrace. It aims to provide students with a general idea of every phase of business activity. The course includes such essential commercial subjects as Typewriting, a practice on Calculating Machines, Cheque Writers, Short-hand, Book-keeping, Commercial Conversation, Correspondence, Commercial Knowledge, Import, Export business, Shipping, Warehousing, Brokering and Insurance. These subjects are taught by fully qualified Chinese and foreign tutors. At present quite a number of pupils have enrolled, and the number is likely to increase when the new term opens on July 10. "The Academy is now conducted by a Board of Honorary Directors, among whom are Messrs. Leung Pat-yu (J.P.), Poon Hui-chi (J.P.), Chan Lim-pak (J.P.), Wong Mow-lam (J.P.) and Wong Wai-chung. Academy's Objects. "The speaker thanked the students for their valued support and co-operation, and added that it was gratifying to note that his efforts to fulfill a long felt want in the Colony was meeting with a hearty response. The commercial student of to-day, said Mr. Kwok, are facing increasingly difficult problems in the business world under the present severe competition, and a knowledge of commerce is made more and more a necessity. Without it, he is ill-equipped and starts with a bad handicap. "It is the object of the Academy to give the student a broad outlook of business and to enable him to pursue by himself a detailed study of the line of business in which he may be engaged or interested. I take this opportunity to congratulate the graduates and to wish them every success in their future career," concluded Mr. Kwok. Mr. Chan Lim-pak, then distributed the certificates to the successful students. Students who passed the 12th Term Examination are as follows: JUNIOR Lo Hon Chung, Kathleen Chun, Kwong Kwok Lee, Daisy Leung, Pang Si Kwong, Chan Chiu Cheong, Yu Kwok Wah, Chan Man Cheung, Au Po Lun, Shum Ho Ming, Leo Chee Hong, Li Hoi Shung, Li Wui Ching, Ng Yung Kan, Pang Oi Ying, Cheung Chi Wan, Kwong Wan Leong, Ip Fook Yuen, Li Fook Yuen, Lai Ka She, Chan Kai Ching, Chung Im Kwan, Chan Tak Wing, Wong Wai Man and Liu Wee Yie. BRITAIN'S COURT PAGEANT

Most Brilliant Function Ever Held.

SIGHTSEERS DISAPPOINTED

London. On thing marred the glory of the Courts this year—for the public. Thousands of men, women and children—mostly women—were deprived of the one occasion in the whole year when they are able to catch more than a fleeting glance of Mayfair's newest "stars" in full dress. Traffic arrangements were so adjusted that all the cars waited within the Palace Gates instead of standing for some two or three hours in the Mall. Despite the absence of the King, who was suffering from rheumatism, the first Court of the season was universally acclaimed one of the most brilliant ever held. Wearing the scarlet uniform of Colonel of the Welsh Guards, the Prince of Wales led his mother to the single golden throne in the great crimson, white, and gold ballroom of Buckingham Palace. Over her opalescent gown with train of Indian gold tissue embroidered with coloured paillettes, Her Majesty wore the blue ribbon of the Order of the Garter. Her jewels were emeralds and diamonds. The first debutante of the year made her curtsy at half-past nine. Two hours later, all the presentations had been made and the Court was over. But for many of the debutantes, the night was still young. After the Palace, the photographer! And so once more they queued up—this time to wait their turn before the camera. The time of waiting was not so tedious, however. For the photographers had included among their preparations for the rush upon their studios, a well-stocked buffet and wireless or gramophone music for those who felt like dancing. During the "court" season, thousands of pounds are spent on photographs alone. Some West End experts take as much as £5,000.—Reuter.

WOMAN INVENTED STIFF COLLAR

American Blacksmith's Wife. When men curse the inventor of stiff collars, they are cursing a woman—though doubtless few of them know it. She was an American, Mrs. Hannah Montague, the wife of a blacksmith. She washed her husband's shirts and in doing so noticed that the collar was nearly always more dirty than the shirt itself. So, with a sudden inspiration, she cut off the collars and put bands round the necks. Then she starched the collars. They stayed clean longer. Mr. Montague was appreciably surprised. He told his friends. That was a century ago. A tablet on a house in Troy, New York, still bears witness to the memory of the inventor of stiff collars.—Reuter.

TRAGIC DEATH OF GLIDING EXPERT

Pioneer Pilot Crashes 400 Feet.

MR. C. H. LOWE-WYLDE

London. Great Britain has lost the best known of all her gliding experts with the death at Maidstone (Kent) of Mr. C. H. Lowe-Wylde. The tragedy of his death could scarcely have been more bitter, for he crashed in a light aeroplane which he himself had designed—a machine which represented the triumph of his career. It was one of the latest developments, in light aircraft fitted with an 8 h.p. engine above the fuselage and was of the type which has become known as the "motor-cycle of the air," not only because of its small power but because of its low running cost. Count Johnston Noad, a member of the Maidstone Aero Club, of which Mr. Lowe-Wylde was captain, was among those who witnessed the accident. "Mr. Lowe-Wylde had been experimenting with this machine for some time, and I myself had a flight in it a week or so ago," he said. "Everything apparently was going satisfactorily and he had flown over the aerodrome for about 20 minutes when suddenly he got into what is known as a 'slip' position at a height of 400 feet. "He never got out of it and the machine fell to the ground wing first. It was completely wrecked and Mr. Lowe-Wylde was dead when we reached him." Mr. Lowe-Wylde, who was 32 years old, had a firm belief in the value of gliding and nothing could daunt his enthusiasm for it, despite the fact that he had crashed two or three times. He was one of the first Englishmen to pass the Aero Club's tests for a licence as gliding pilot. Two years ago he entered for the international competition for gliding across the English Channel. The first man to accomplish the crossing was Herr Robert Kronfeld, the young "Austrian gliding expert" whose graceful "aerobatic" performances have won for him the description "Poet of the Sky." In 1931 Mr. Lowe-Wylde made an attempt to glide across the Firth of Forth, but was unsuccessful. In the same year at Hanworth Aerodrome he took part in a series of trials with gliders towed by motorcars. On that occasion, in a machine designed by himself, he made a full circuit of the aerodrome.—Reuter.

MR. F. H. HOLDMAN'S DEATH

Post Office Official.

CIVIL SERVICE CRICKETER AND BOWLER

The death occurred yesterday at the Kowloon Hospital of Mr. Frederick Herbert Holdman, Assistant Superintendent of Mails, Post Office. The deceased, who was 44 years of age, came to Hong Kong as a Quarter-Master Sergeant in the Wiltshire Regiment. He joined the Post Office as a Supervisor in February 1922, and was made Assistant Superintendent of Mails in 1923. He also acted as Superintendent from March 28, to November 16, 1932. A popular member of the Civil Service Cricket Club, Mr. Holdman took an active part in sport, being a member of the Club's second division lawn bowls team. As a mark of respect both lawn bowls league matches, between Craigiebowler and Civil Service, which were to have been played yesterday, were postponed. A cricketer of no mean ability, the deceased kept wicket for the Club's team for many years. He also played in an inter-part trials match, some years ago but was not selected. He is survived by his wife, who resides at No. 307 Prince Edward Road, Kowloon. The deceased was Grand Master of the Naval and Military Lodge, No. 848, Principal M.E.Z. and Standard Bearer. LENT TROUSERS TO EMPEROR.

Incident Recalled By Death Of Forester.

Vienna. Adolf Winkler, a 77-year-old forester who has just died at Moedling near Vienna, once lent his leather trousers to an Emperor. The then Archduke and later Emperor Karl was out shooting near a place called Muerzal, when a storm broke and the Archduke was soaked through. He called at Winkler's cottage, and was given the trousers which were many sizes too large for him. Winkler kept the trousers afterwards as a souvenir.—Reuter.

Vienna Celebrates 250th Anniversary.

Vienna. While the Austrian people are celebrating the 250th anniversary of their country's liberation from the Turks, Viennese cafes are commemorating the founder of European cafes and coffee houses. Georg Frank Koltschitzky slipped through the Turkish lines in 1683, dressed as a Turk, and brought back valuable information to the Commander of the Imperial forces. As a reward for his services he was given the sacks of coffee beans which the Turks abandoned when they fled. Koltschitzky then set up in Vienna the proprietor of Europe's first cafe.—Reuter.

Love Has Keenest Vision

Lessons Learned From Life Of Christ

TRIUMPH ON THE CROSS

(By A Local Padre.)

(This is another of the series of articles written exclusively for the "Sunday Herald" by a local Army chaplain.)

THERE is an expression which we use sometimes, indeed it has passed into a proverb, to the effect that love is blind. As a matter of fact it is very far from being true. It has the keenest vision. We call it blind because the things we see, and having seen can do but no beauty in, are to the eyes of love transfigured. And in no case is this more certain than in the life of Christ. It was those who loved Him who saw the wonder of His life and personality, and to whom He unlocked the treasures of His heart. Yet while that is true about Him, and every other person, great or small, it is also true that there may be a value in the testimony of one's enemies. I do not mean malicious slanders which so often assail a public reputation, but rather those hasty comments that are made in the presence of a lofty character, by those who are antagonistic. Behind the haze of the half-truth, and the mists of prejudice, we can sometimes discern the figure of truth. As men looked at the Man of Galilee with the eyes of enemies, what qualities arrested them? The first thing they did as enemies, was to bear witness to the reality and courage of His comradeship. They were always hurling against Him the taunt that He was the "friend of publicans and sinners." They thought by that to blast His reputation. As a matter of fact it merely sealed it. These tax gatherers were loathed and despised from one end of Palestine to the other, yet Christ went to their houses and ate and drank with them. Far from proclaiming Him as a sinner as they wished they showed Him as a brother. A Gentle Man. We gather also from their statement that He was a "wine-bibber" that He impressed them as a genial man. We can only be too thankful that their taunt has been preserved, and by Christ Himself, because from it we can learn that the contrary to popular opinion He was no ascetic. He loved good company. He moved everywhere with a face of gladness. He was asked out to all kinds of houses, simply because they could not resist the charm of His presence. The fact that men so spoke of Him, and found an audience who would listen to them, is a witness of unparalleled value to His gladness and geniality. We read in one place that He wept, but nowhere that He laughed, and the story has gone forth that He never smiled. But surely the exact opposite must be the truth. His tears were mentioned because they were so rare and exceptional. To the men who wrote about Him as they remembered Him in the after-years the memory of those tears stood out against the background of His life, they never forgot them, but all it is gaiety and gladness were such common everyday things that they were not worth mentioning. Everyone would understand and take them for granted. All the same we might have been blind to it except for the illuminative slanders of His enemies. The cross was ever before His eyes. He bore it on His shoulders all his days but He never moved in an atmosphere of gloom. He hid it deep down below the surface. When sometimes it grew almost unbearable He went away quietly by Himself until that courage, which was ever the hall-mark of His character, came back to Him. Reality Of Miracles. There is nothing more significant in the Gospels than the reality of His power to work miracles. It is the custom these days to belittle them, or explain them away altogether. To many people they are definite stumbling-blocks. But the strange thing is,—that those who knew Christ best, never expressed any amazement. It is, I believe, the people who were amazed, never the 12, simply because the

He Never Wavered. That great yearning for the souls of men, that glowed through everything He did and said could not be hidden. His enemies put it down to madness. On the day of Pentecost His followers were accused of being full of new wine. What the world wants to-day above all else is enthusiasm of that sort, men who burn to help their fellows, are prepared to risk the scorn and derision that will be inevitably heaped on them. The last taunt they flung at Him was the grandest witness of all. It was the bitterest and it was the truest. "He trusted in God" they cried, as He was hanging upon the cross. And yet they must have brought to His face a glad look of triumph. Even His enemies had to confess at last, that through storm and sunshine He had never wavered. We have friends, and we probably have foes. Could they say those words of us? If they can they are just about the finest recommendation we shall ever receive.

SPIES MUST BE SMOKERS

Clever Ruses For Hiding Information.

BRITISHER'S REVELATION

Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. The old warning, "put that in your pipe and smoke it," was carried out literally by spies during the World War, says Major Thomas Coulson, formerly of the British Military Intelligence Service. "The hardest part of a spy's job was to get information out of the country," he declared in an address before students of Drexel Institute. "Many methods were used, but probably the most effective was the pipe stunt. "The spy would write his information on extremely thin paper, which could be rolled into a ball no larger than a pea. This he would insert in the 'heel' of his pipe, tamping tobacco down over it. "If he was stopped by enemy officials, he would merely light his pipe, and incriminating evidence would go up in smoke." Hollow buttons, false fingernails and open glass eyes, he said, were utilised in secret important documents.—Reuter.

HOW EDGAR ALLAN POE FAILED

(By Rhy Darby.)

THE lamas, or high priests, who inhabit the high mountains of Tibet, claim that all religions are from the same source.

And as knowledge of the Creator is true religion, and knowledge of His creation is exact science, if the truth is known about them they must agree.

Therefore, the Church and material scientists will call a truce some day.

The lamas live for hundreds of years, and say we can learn to do so.

Also the lamas believe that the outstanding men of all races—Melchizedek, Moses, St. Paul, Buddha, Mahomet, Plato, Aristotle, Socrates—all were initiates or members of their secret order.

Napoleon Was Taught By Lamas. Some of our military geniuses were instructed and directed by the adepts.

Napoleon and Alexander the Great are two outstanding examples. Alexander was taught by Aristotle, and his conquest of the world was planned and guided by these unseen supermen.

His mission was the fusing of Greek and Roman civilization, which was the means of spreading Christ's and Mahomet's messages. This feat is described in the Koran.

St. Paul and Pythagoras Were Lamas.

The lamas claim that St. Paul was an initiate.

He said, "We speak wisdom among the initiated . . . in a secret made known to the initiated, THE WISDOM KEPT SECRET."

Pythagoras is said to have journeyed to Tibet in the sixth century. It was after his return that he founded his school at Crotona.

On entrance a five years' silence was entered upon by every pupil, in order to learn concentration. Einstein and Pythagoras Agree. Pythagoras taught a system of symbols and numbers. He asserts with Einstein that numbers are the principle of the universe—that all the mysteries of the entire universe can be solved through meditating upon them.

Through profound concentration we are able to get in touch with our superconscious minds.

The adepts say that symbols and numbers are the means used by the soul to communicate with our conscious minds. Through practice, great knowledge can be brought down to the conscious mind.

This is practiced unconsciously in dreams, and may have been able to bring back a message to the waking state.

Usually the prophetic dreams are ones given to us in symbols.

If you have dreams in symbols and do not understand I shall be pleased to answer your inquiries.

Elixir of Life Found in Tibet.

As long ago as the days of Atlantis, there are records of alchemists distilling this fiery essence with which the high priests renewed their existence.

Some students hold that there is such a formula in existence to-day. And the initiates of Tibet assure us that they know of a process of prolonging life for at least 200 years.

This is done by developing a certain essence, or fluid, in man, which lies dormant unless it is recognised and developed.

It is, in fact, a form of human electricity.

Human Electricity.

Modern science has come to the conclusion that all brain activity is accompanied by electrical phenomena.

The lamas have understood this and experimented with this knowledge for centuries.

The energising of your body through the means of breathing exercises, diet, and meditation develops a consciousness of an electricity of incredible voltage far more powerful than any form discovered by Edison.

Devil Worship.

The adepts of Tibet, unfortunately, are not the only priests acquainted with this powerful force. It is developed and used by the Black Magicians, or monks of the Black Hat order, who use this power for their selfish ends.

By it they can communicate with demons, cause illness, and send death.

The uneducated Tibetan talks much of these evils, and seeks to propitiate them through paying for the services of the lower Tibetan monks, who do a good business in selling charms and performing ceremonies to offset the power of these evil ones.

The Devas Offer To Mortals.

In Asia there is a proverb that the devas, or gods, whisper in every man's ear. "Thou, only, if thou wilt, art immortal."

The mortal who is impressed by this conceives the desire to live for ever.

If this desire is sufficiently strong, it reaches these secret ones in the high mountains, who send to help him.

Sometimes he is brought into direct touch with the lamas of the higher orders.

First he is tested. Has he gained ascendancy over his lower, or animal, nature?

Divinely beautiful women are sent to tempt him. If this temptation has no power, his faith in the masters is tried.

He is given the sensation of falling from great heights, of walking through a pillar of fire, and, if his mind still remains poised, he is tempted with subtle offers of worldly power.

If the candidate's desire is found to be impervious to this, the innermost secrets of nature are taught.

Sometimes, after a period of training, he is sent out into the world again, with added wisdom and power to minister to mankind.

The world sees an exceptionally gifted or wise man . . . But sometimes there is an interesting period of years not accounted for.

Bulwer Lytton Secretly Visited Tibet.

Another who is alleged to have known of this Lodge. In fact, in his novel "Zanoni" he recounts the struggles of an initiate after he had gained great power.

WISE & OTHERWISE

ESCAPE.

"You can be quite safe from an angry bull," says a writer, "if you move your arms rapidly." Personally, I prefer to move my legs rapidly.

PROGRESS.

I read that many women make pets of mice. Gosh! There's nothing left you can scare them with nowadays.

Completing the Trinity.

A writer says that young poets need faith and hope. Followed, before long, by charity.

AT WHITSUN—

The waiter takes a seaside job. It's quite right that he should. The trippers spend their money, and the change will do him good.

IN ARREARS.

"All kinds of things contribute towards England's prosperity," says a writer. Well, they're a long way behind with their contributions.

LIE DETECTOR.

"I don't believe my wife could tell a lie."

"You're lucky. Mine can—as soon as it's out of my mouth."

The Young Idea.

Tommy (aged ten): "Shall we have a nice, friendly game?"

Betty (aged nine): "No, let's pretend we're married."

Progress Report.

I understand that the London man who recently plunged into the Thames and clambered out again 290 times in one afternoon can punt much better now.

EH?

President Wilson talked about "making the world safe for democracy"; but is President Roosevelt going to make the underworld safe for democracy.

To My Brunette-turning-Blonde.

And as your hair grows lighter I will love you more.

Question of the Week.

Epstein is going to make a bust of Shaw because they're friends. This gives rise to the question: How does Epstein treat his enemies?

REVOLTING DOINGS.

You cannot say that there is of fashion, being now replaced by other breeds.

PLENTY LEFT.

The Pekingese dog has gone out of fashion, being now replaced by other breeds.

The Pekingese now fails to please—

That we see week by week.

So 'tis as well that we should spell His name, in future, "Pique."

HELPLESS.

A jazz-band crooner says that in order to preserve his throat muscles he has to do exercises, bending and turning his neck this way and that. I understand that thousands of people have offered to twist it for him.

Answer to Correspondent.

No, Maise, "he was turned out bag and baggage" does not mean he was turned out with his suitcase and his wife.

RUMINATION.

An Englishman's home is still his castle. Think of all the battles that have been fought in castles.

CUT IT OUT.

A scientist says that if you cut a worm into seventy pieces you just get seventy worms. I hope this will be a warning to those people who cut worms into seventy pieces.

DEADLY GAS FROM BURNING CLOTH

U.S. Scientists Reveal New Theory.

CAUSE OF MANY DEATHS

New York. Deadly gases from burning clothes are believed to be the real cause of a large percentage of the 10,000 deaths which occur every year through fire in the United States.

A report of the American Chemical Society found that burning of woolen materials gives off such dangerous gases as carbon monoxide, carbon dioxide, hydrogen sulphide, hydrocyanic acid and ammonia.

Gases produced by burning various common materials in an asbestos-lined room were studied at the Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn.

"Persons attempting to escape from fire," says the report of the scientists, "have probably been overcome by the gases evolved from burning clothing and lost their lives by breathing these toxic gases."

"When the clothing of a person is burning, it seems almost inevitable that he should inhale the gases produced. Woolen carpets, draperies and upholstery undoubtedly add to the danger, when a fire occurs, by emitting deadly gases."

The smallest amounts of gas in the room where materials were burning were found to be in a layer midway between floor and ceiling, as the lighter gases rose, while heavy gases sank to the floor.—Reuter.

MUNICIPAL BUDGET STOLEN.

Senseless Theft In German Town.

Cologne. A thief who broke into the town hall at Herzogenrath, in the Rhineland, stole only the budget for the 1933 financial year.

Who the thief was no one knows and the police have so far failed to discover him.

Why anyone should want to steal this document, the compilation of which had caused the burgomaster many hours of labour, is a lively subject for speculation among the townspeople.

It can only be assumed that the thief was obsessed with the idea that the abstraction of the budget would in some way prevent the levying of rates.—Reuter.

QUEEN OF HOLLAND AIDS FARMERS.

50 Per Cent. Reduction On Estate Rentals.

Apeldoorn, Holland. Queen Wilhelmina has decided to reduce the rents on her own estates by 50 per cent. in view of the difficult times which Dutch farmers are facing.

As Her Majesty's landed properties are extensive, this reduction constitutes a considerable sacrifice of income.—Reuter.

SLUMP IMPROVES U. S. STUDENTS

Studying Harder For New Conditions.

"LOAFERS" DECREASE

Evanston, Illinois. The American college student has benefited by the depression. He is studying harder says the President of Northwestern University.

He believes that student life has been bettered to a marked degree the last two years.

Loafers have decreased in number. The University has taken on a business-like attitude.

In general students seem to be less reckless and more considerate, he says. They are acquiring habits of industry and thrift, that will be of advantage after graduation.

The quality of incoming freshmen last September was the highest we have ever had. Indications are that the entering class in September will be equally high." He added.

"The greatest drop in attendance has been in our courses in commerce. Our greatest increase has been in our courses in social sciences."—Reuter.

BRITISH GOLF TITLE

2 AMERICANS TIED AT 292 IN BRITISH OPEN

Thrilling Contest In Difficult Wind.

BRITISHER FAILS AT 35TH HOLE

Leaders Crack Up

St. Andrew's, Yesterday.
The most thrilling British Open
Golf Championship for many years must go once again to America. Yesterday Craig Wood and Deansmore Shute, both Ryder cup players, tied for the first place with an aggregate score of 292 for the 72 holes.
They will play off over 36 holes to-day.

An increasing wind making the stiff breeze made the final round the most difficult and resulted in an upset among the leaders.

There were 287 entries for the St. Andrew's classic—only nine short of the record in the 1930 championship at Hoylake. American headed the foreign challenge with 14 representatives, including ten
Ryder Cup players. France (10),
Spain (6), Canada (3), the Argentine (2), and New Zealand, Denmark and Egypt (one each) all sent representatives.

It seemed at one time very likely that the trophy would go to Britain for the first time in ten years when Syd Easterbrook,
the British Ryder Cup player, was out in 37 in the final round.
Requiring a 33 to win, disaster overtook the Kent player at the fourteenth, which is par five.

Easterbrook took a seven and needed a three at the final hole to tie. He, however, pulled his second shot to the Club-house steps and did not have any chance, though he holed a four yarder for the par four to finish second, equal with the holder,
Gene Sarazen, and Leo Diegel, two other American Ryder Cup players.

Deansmore Shute owed his tie to brilliant play in the final round when he shot a 73, which was equalled by Arenic Compton and beaten only by Olin Dutra and R.
Whitcombe, who were round in 72.

So severe had the course become that Walter Hagen, the leader in the first two rounds, cracked up completely. He returned an 82 for an aggregate of 301.

Cyril Tolley and W. McLean, the Scottish champion, were the leading amateurs, tying for seventh place with 298.—Reuter.

BRIDGE NOTES

The Two No Trumps Bid.

Both at Auction and at Contract an initial bid of Two No Trumps can be employed profitably on certain types of hands. While the necessary requirements at the two games are similar the bid can be used more often at Auction than at Contract.

At Auction, with strength and length in a minor suit and weakness in the majors, there is no better bid. Yet many players fail to make use of the opportunity and miss games and rubbers thereby. Their argument is, "Why should I bid Two when One is sufficient? I can bid Two later if pushed to it."

But although it is true that at Auction the natural desire is to secure the declaration as cheaply as possible such argument is based upon a fallacy. It does not take into account the fact that allowing opponents to exchange information cheaply may make all the difference between winning or losing games or perhaps even securing the contract. The initial Two No Trumps bid makes it necessary for the opponents to bid Three of a suit and so often renders them impotent.

A simple example from actual play will make this clear.

S.—7, 5.
H.—10, 8, 6.
D.—K, 7, 4, 2.
C.—10, 7, 4, 2.
S.—A, 10, 8, 6, 2.
H.—7, 5.
D.—10, 8, 5.
C.—J, 9, 8, B.
S.—Q, J, 9, 8.
H.—A, K, 9, 4, 2.
D.—J, 6, 3.
C.—8.

Here at Auction, score game all, love all, Z bids One No Trump. A and Y, No Bid; B Two Hearts. Z Two No Trumps. All pass.

A leads his 7 of Hearts and B wins with the King. Knowing that Z has a guard in Hearts and that he cannot possibly save the game by clearing the suit, B now leads the Queen of Spades and Z is two down on his contract, losing five tricks in Spades and two in Hearts.

Mark the difference if Z opens with Two No Trumps, which assuredly he should. It is now unlikely that A or B will bid at all. A bid of Three Spades by A is unthinkable and if B ventures Three Hearts Z should leave it. On the cards he has a double but it is not a sound double of Three.

If B does not bid (and assuredly from his point of view a bid of Three Hearts is very dangerous) A opens in all probability with a Spade and Z makes 10 tricks. although Dummy has only a King in his hand.

This example is only one of many which could be given of the advantage of the Two No Trumps bid instead of the One No Trump at Auction and may well convey a salutary lesson. There is an immense difference from the opponents' point of view between bidding Two or Three as a lead-director or even a flag-flyer to try to save the game or rubber.

At Contract, however, it is an open question whether on this particular hand Z should bid Two No Trumps or make an Approach-Forcing bid of Two Clubs. The hard and fast conventionalists will say that no problem arises. The one and only bid on their system is Two Clubs. This ensures a response from partner provided A does not speak. The bidding, then, might be Z Two Clubs; A No bid; Y Two No Trumps (the minimum response); B No Bid; Z Three Clubs; A No bid; Y Four Clubs; B No Bid; Z Five Clubs; or it might be Z Two Clubs; Y Two No Trumps; Z Three No Trumps, which, however, is not strictly according to the system, as after Y's negative response, Z should re-bid his Clubs to indicate his length and Y having four of the suit must choose to support in preference to a bid of Three No Trumps, since he cannot let the bidding die.

We find then that on this hand at Contract Z, in the absence of bids by A and B, probably will play the hand in five Clubs, which he cannot make. Whereas the game in No Trumps whether played by Y or Z is a certainty provided, if Y plays it in Three No Trumps, B does not open Spades and if Z plays it a Spade is led by A.

Now let us consider the position when Z opens with Two Clubs and A greatly daring, bids Two Spades. Of course he should not and, being vulnerable, he is incurring an absolutely unjustifiable risk. But if he does, the whole scheme is vitiated. Y can say nothing and B must support to Three Spades. Z cannot now rightly bid Three No Trumps. He must bid Four Clubs or leave the Three Spades. If he leaves the Three Spades A makes his contract. If he bids Four Clubs Z may make his contract or be down according to A's opening lead.

The point, however, is that the initial bid of Two No Trumps by Z is more likely at Contract as also at Auction to fulfil its purpose than is an opening bid of Clubs. At Contract after an initial bid of Two No Trumps partner should respond with Three No Trumps if he has merely a King in his hand. Y, therefore, has just the minimum requirement for support and only a freak lead by A will defeat the contract and then only if B tumbles to the situation.

To lay down a hard and fast rule

MEN WITH ELIXIR OF LIFE

The story deals with the temptations that even at that advanced stage of his evolution beset him, through human love.

Another who is alleged to have received the training of these initiates of Tibet is Edgar Allan Poe. The rigorous training proved too great a strain on his sensitive, impressionable nature. He came back into the world of men, saddened and remorseful.

For to have once seen the heights is ever to long for their glory. He attempted to blot out this torment of remorse in many ways, but the consciousness of his failure remained an ever-present agony.

We see evidence of the unhappy state of his soul in most of his beautiful but hauntingly sad poems.

A Western Scientist Called To Tibet.

Evidence of the existence of these super institutions of the lamas in Tibet are to be found even in the ordinary walks of life.

Not long ago the Writer met in New York a scientist of great eminence who, with suppressed excitement, informed her that he had just received his "call" to the great monasteries of Tibet, and that he had at last been admitted to the higher learning.

He was then winding up his affairs, and, with a colleague, was enthusiastically preparing to depart.

Questioned about his "call," he explained that about six years ago he was mysteriously advised that his admission to the fold of the initiated was imminent, and that he was to prepare himself accordingly.

He would say no more. His admission had at last been granted.

as to when a bid of Two No Trumps is to be preferred to an Approach-Forcing bid is not easy. Sometimes one and sometimes the other will prove to be the better, but generally it may be stated that at Contract the Two No Trumps bid is preferable whenever the hand is of such a nature that it is necessary or desirable to try to shut out the opponents from showing strength in major suits and when the hand contains, if led up to, six or seven probable tricks when not vulnerable or seven certain tricks when vulnerable.

In these circumstances the holding of a biddable minor suit can be disregarded. Approach tactics may or may not bring about the best final result. But they may end in the wrong player being the Declarer in No Trumps. The Two No Trumps bid is a formidable weapon. Properly used it cannot result in any grave disaster to the bidder, however bad his partner's hand. Whereas to opponents it is usually destructive and devastating. They have to guess and they may guess wrong.

Large crowds in New York and other cities in the United States and Canada have visited and inspected the "Royal Scot," crack train of the London, Midland and Scottish Railroad. TAKING PETROL TO THE PLANE

For refuelling aircraft at any point on the landing ground, a well-known petrol company has designed an interesting tanker of 800-gallon capacity. Both tank and equipment are mounted on a special six-wheel cross-country commercial vehicle chassis.

If the vehicle happens to move while refuelling a plane, says "Motor Transport," a safety device automatically closes the main delivery valve. Another interesting feature is that if the vehicle itself runs short of fuel when away from a filling point the delivery pump may be used to pump spirit into the vehicle's petrol tank. First-aid equipment is carried in the driver's cab and also detachable creeper tracks for use on soft ground or sand.

"CONGRESS DANCES."

Gay and colorful Vienna of more than a century ago is the setting for "Congress Dances," the Ufa operatic satire which opens at the Central Theatre to-day.

It is a Vienna of wine, song, gaily and intrigue, and all of these elements are cleverly interwoven in this Continental screen production, one that seems destined to enjoy a long run here.

The story has to do with the royal intrigues of the days of Napoleon, then banished to Elba. The rulers of Austria, Russia, France and other countries naturally are concerned over the fate of Bonaparte and either in person or through high diplomatic representatives gather in Vienna to decide the vanquished
Napoleon's fate.

Austria's Chancellor, Prince
Metternich, cleverly portrayed by Conrad Veidt, is determined that he will remain in exile and exerts every means to keep Czar Alexander of Russia from the congress called in the Austrian capital.

Despite the efforts of the enchanting Lillian Harvey, as Christel, the glove-shop girl, and Lil
Dagover, as the alluring Countess Metternich, fails to keep Alexander from the conference and the congress dance, but the infatuation of the Russian emperor for the delightful shopgirl finally carries the day for the Chancellor, whose joy, however, is short-lived, as word comes announcing Napoleon's escape.

Lillian Harvey carries the show in magnificent fashion with the able help of Henry Garat, Hays, Olga Engel, Tarquini d'Or and the other members of this talented international cast.

Perfect acting, brilliant direction and lavish settings mark "Congress Dances," which is an Eric Pommer production, while beautiful melodies, singing and dancing are also featured against picturesque backgrounds.

CRAWFORD CHAMPION

ELLSWORTH VINES BEATEN IN SECOND SET

Stirring Struggle For 45 Minutes.

JAPANESE-GERMAN MEN'S DOUBLES FINAL

Borotra And Betty Out

London, Yesterday.

Jack Crawford, the 25-year-old Australian Davis Cup captain, completed a brilliant "double" yesterday when he defeated Ellsworth Vines, the holder, after a gruelling five-set struggle to win the Men's Singles Championship at Wimbledon.

Crawford won the French Championship from Henri Cochet at Auteuil before he invaded Wimbledon. He is the first Britisher to win the All-England Championship since Gerald Patterson, the giant Australian won the title in 1920.

Crawford really won his match against Vines in the second set when he mastered the American's fiercest cannon-ball services and powerful drives. The set lasted for three-quarters of an hour, the games going with the service, until Crawford broke through in the twentieth game to level the match.

The final set was a repetition of the second until Crawford took a love game off Vines' service to follow it up by winning his service to give him the set and title at 6-4.

The crowd rose to a man as Crawford made the winning stroke, and the excited gallery cheered for fully three minutes.

Last year Vines, making his first appearance in England, beat Crawford in straight sets in the semi-final to go on to beat Bunny Austin by the same margin in the Final. During the winter he toured Australia with the American "Test" team and suffered defeats at the hands of both Crawford and McGrath.

Crawford now holds three of the world's four major tennis titles. He is holder of the Wimbledon, French, and Australian Championships. Vines holds the American title.

MATTEN'S AEROPLANE SMASHED

Lieut. Matten left Newfoundland on June 8 on an attempt to beat the round-the-world flight record established by Wiley Post and Frank Gatty, last year. Dogged by ill-fortune throughout his flight, he was stranded at Kharbarovsk for several days owing to foggy weather and storms.

He vanished after taking off for Nome on June 15, and it was feared that he had been forced down in the North Pacific. Naval vessels and air patrols searched for him along the Alaskan coast and in the vicinity of the Aleutian Islands.

The Centre Court at Wimbledon. As a result of the intense heat, "artificial rain" was applied to the sunbaked Centre Court to keep it in good condition for the championship.—(S. & G.).

AIR SERVICE TO SHANGHAI

Trial Plane Leaves Canton.

PASSENGERS AT $275, BUT NOT TILL LATER

Canton, Yesterday.

Hopping off this morning from the Pearl River, the amphibian aeroplane of the China National Aviation Corporation commenced its return trip to Shanghai via coastal ports. The plane carried the same passengers who arrived at Canton on Thursday morning, and should reach Shanghai late this afternoon after 9 hours flying.

It is expected that regular Pan-American Airways service will be started by the end of this month. There will be two trips per week. It is proposed that the planes will carry only mails and no passengers.

Two large amphibian planes will be used for the service which embraces the coast ports of Swatow, Amoy, Foochow and Hong Kong being excluded for the time being.

The passenger fare from Canton to Shanghai will be $275 per, but details concerning passenger transportation will be decided at a later date.—Central Press.

The giant twin-motored Sikorsky bi-plane arrived in Hong Kong from Shanghai on Wednesday, carrying six officials connected with the service, and left for Canton at 8 a.m. this morning.

On the journey from Shanghai, the plane visited the coastal ports which will be included in the service, the primary object being the necessity of surveying landing grounds.

The service will be linked up with Hong Kong as soon as the necessary permit to use Kai Tak as a port of call, is forthcoming from the Home Government.

In the party were Messrs. H. M. Bixby, Mr. P. Y. Wong, (Business Manager of the China National Aviation Corporation), Mr. W. L. Bond, (Operations Manager C.N.A.C.), Mr. W. S. Grooch, (Operations Manager of the Pacific-American line), Mr. Y. Ehmer, (Flight Mechanic and Radio Operator), Mr. P. C. Groeger, (Engineer) and Mr. R. H. Gast, (Pilot).

The machine was piloted by Mr. Grooch.

TANGKU TRUCE SEQUEL.

Peking, Yesterday. Further provisions in the Dairen conference are as follows:—(1) Japanese troops shall be permitted to supervise places in Miyun and Kwachow which are to be garrisoned by the reorganized irregular troops. (2) The Peking-Shenyang Railway be under joint Sino-Japanese control.

This agreement is a sequel to the Tangku truce. It was learned here that the Dairen conference will finally liquidate the Manchurian questions.—Central Press.

MUTINOUS WARSHIPS, TO JOIN CANTON

The Squadron is commanded by Rear-Admiral Chiang Si-yuan (Keung Sai-yuen). The naval visitors were entertained to dinner last evening in the Naval Club, Vice-Admiral Chung Chi-ying, Commandant of the Canton Naval Flotilla, acting as host.

Interviewed by press representatives, Captain Fang Lim-cho, commanding the gunboat Fu An, stated that the three ships came south to offer their service in the naval defence of the South-west which has a long coast line. He said that the warships encountered a severe cyclone off the coast of Fukien with the result that the cruiser Shao Ho was disabled.

The cruiser had to be towed by Hsi Chi, Captain Fang said, but owing to the heavy seas the hawser snapped and became entangled in the propellers of the Hsi Chi. The three men-o-war, however, rode the storm and arrived in Canton waters in safety.

"They came south to seek assistance from the Canton authorities," Captain Fang went on. "They are short of supplies and fuel. The naval officers will interview General Chen Chi-tang, and the outcome will depend on the result of the conference. In the meantime they are ready to take orders from the South-west authorities."

It was learned that the future of the three cruisers will be decided direct between the military authorities and the commanding officers of the three vessels.—Central Press.

CRITICAL VOTE RESULTS 25 TO 15

London, Yesterday.

Consideration of the items which can, usefully be discussed, having regard to the fact that the gold bloc countries have objected to anything relating to monetary questions, occupied the attention of the sub-Committees of the World Economic Conference, yesterday, when they resumed activities yesterday.

The gold bloc countries displayed soreness at the apparent attempt to narrow down this line of deliberation.

The British Chancellor of the Exchequer Mr. Neville Chamberlain, proposed at one meeting that the original agenda be adhered to, but reservations could be made if unanimous conclusions were impossible. The leader of the French delegation, M. Bonnet, championing the gold nations, opposed the proposal, which was ultimately carried by 25 votes to 15.—Reuter.

Bureau Meets On Monday.

A COMPLETE REVIEW.

London, Yesterday.

The decision of the Bureau of the World Economic Conference to proceed with the work to the utmost possible extent, necessitates a complete review of the Conference activities. The situation will be clarified when, on Monday, the Bureau has before it reports from the various sub-committees, several of which were in session during yesterday.

Meanwhile, the position was considered at private meetings of the various delegations and there were consultations between the delegates at which the major issues before the Conference were discussed.

The President, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, who took a prominent part in these consultations, presided over a meeting of the British Cabinet held at the House of Commons yesterday. — British Wireless Service.

At the joint meeting of the various sub-committees of the Economic Commission of the World Economic Conference, to consider future work, a proposal that the sub-committees work on the co-ordination of the production and marketing of sugar, timber, wine, coal, tea, tin, copper and silver should continue, was opposed.

The silver question is also being dealt with by a sub-committee of the Financial Commission. — British Wireless Service.
